This morning the "Grillini" (Parliamentarians of the Movimento Cinque Stelle led by Beppe Grillo) left their home without locking the door. And when they were outside, they threw away the keys in the dumpster. Whoever goes inside their homes - a definition now devoid of any sense - is not breaking the law, and is free to get inside and say that he is at home.

The same goes for Mr. Renzi and his supporters, all belonging to the PD (former Communist party): they all admire with enthusiasm the Letta government and its ministers, because finally they are on the right track: the Italian State and the Italian People will disappear. Mr. Enrico Letta (the Italian prime minister) was the first who left the door of his home open. But instead of throwing the keys in the dumpster, he handed them to Mrs. Kyenge (the Italian Minister for the Integration, born in Congo). She will throw away the keys when the crime of illegal immigration will be cancelled. The so called "Empty Jails Decree", which was created by the Letta government, has a deceiving name, hiding the truth. It contains a real bomb against the Italian State and the Italian People: the abolition of the crime of illegal immigration, which is a terrifying way to empty the jails in advance, and in an absolute way.

Italy - and its territory - is the home of the Italians. This area is delimited by boundaries that allow you to identify the Italian State. A State does not exist, if it does not have a Territory and a People. Few days ago, the State of Israel declared: "This is the Land of the Jews, citizenship will not be given to any foreigner". This is the way it is, for all States and all Peoples. The cancellation of illegal immigration, however, means that there is not a Territory belonging to the Italian State, there is not a Territory that the State claims as its own, and that there is no Italian People, since everybody can come in and mix. This rule completely destroys any reality and any logic sense of a "State", and does not exist in any other Country, as it does not exist on ships or on aircrafts (which are real and virtual symbols of a State), where clandestinity is prosecuted as the most serious offense. From now on, everybody is free to accommodate in Italy, and also on every Italian ship or airplane.

The governors who have created such a Decree are the most absolute despots that have ever existed. No King, no Emperor, no Tyrant has ever made decisions so destructive for his own kingdom, and for his own people. Democracy?! The current governors – who according to our Constitution are illegitimate – are considered by the world public opinion as joke-governors, as non-governors. Every day we are expecting their resignation, so that with new elections it will be possible the formation of a legitimate Government. Instead, they behave as if they were the owners and not the administrators of the State. Crazy owners, who are throwing away their wealth in a paroxysmal delirium, that was never witnessed before, not even at the times of the roman emperor Caligula, who appointed Senator his horse.

And what about the "Grillini"? They arose so much enthusiasm when they said that they wanted to tear down the "Palace". The Palace is the great parasitism of the absolute Power; a Power that is using its subjects and the belongings of its subjects to eat them, and destroy them. Now the "Grillini" are comfortably sitting on the rich armchairs of Power, and they are using this power to give away Italy, its Territory, Name, History and Culture, as a present to their Favorites. They are completely unable to think, and are not afraid of ridicule, since are pompously talking about an impeachment of the President of the Italian Republic: both the Grillini and the President were declared illegitimate by the Constitutional Court. What is more grotesque than this way of governing?
