

The Irish, Us, and Europe

To repeat a Referendum until when it will yield the desired result: even for a child it would be a grotesque leg-pull of the citizens' rights. But today this is one of the many strategies employed by the people in power, in order to create a new system of government inside the European Union, together with the elimination of the States. This system of government by all means can be called "Democratic Dictatorship". Once again, we can see that this awful abuse of power is happening in Italy and also in the majority of the other States, under the complicity and silence of the politicians and of the Media. The same ones that on the other hand are always ready to scream against the Dictatorships of the East.

In Italy we do not have an anti-EU Party that could make its voice heard, not even the smallest one; parties of this kind, although very small, do exist in the other Countries that were unwillingly forced into the European Union by their governors. (Italiani Liberi was born with this purpose and we did all we could to succeed, but no party can be born in Italy without financial support and, most of all, under the ostracism of the politicians and of the media).

The governors are unanimous about the death of the European Civilization: the same Civilization that until yesterday was the lighthouse towards which the whole World was staring. This is the real meaning and goal of the European Union project: the end of the Nations, of Motherland, of Languages, and therefore the end of Freedom, of Right and of Justice.

No wonder if the European Union is imposing over the people a Constitution (under the fake name of Lisbon Treaty) that was written only by the governors; the citizens do not know it and never did they vote to approve it. No wonder, too, if with the European Warrant of Arrest, the citizens have lost a fundamental right which had been established under the Roman Empire: the right to have their own "natural judge". This is happening only in the European Union.

But it is not just that. Since the European Union was created by the will of its governors, who want to build a dictatorial Empire, its citizens are subject to a Tyranny without knowing it. And this Tyranny is using words and concepts which were created on purpose, in order to impose a distortion of logic and rationality, of feelings and affections, with the final goal of destroying the identity of the Nations and of the Individuals.

This is why we have the Politically Correctness, the prohibition to make any historical research about the events following the fall of nazism and fascism. This is why there is the imprisonment for dissidents and also for the lawyers assisting them in the trials - an unprecedented barbarity in Europe. And we are also forced to consider Good and Right all what is being proposed by the politicians, even if it goes against Reason and Nature. These are just a few examples of the system that has been created to take us into the World Homologation.

But, as it has happened many times during the long history of Europe, one single battle can lead to the final victory - or to the defeat. Right now, our destiny lies in the hands of the Irish people: it is a crucial moment. If they answer "yes" to the Referendum, that would be the end of any possible hope of freedom. But a "no" would be the same "no" that 170 millions of Europeans would have wanted to scream when they did not go to vote in the last european elections.

And even if we are sure that, in case of a negative response, the governors would find another way to by-pass the result of the Referendum, this fraud would be the evident proof of how much Europe despises Democracy; and it would also be an opportunity to unmask and fight its builders.
